At Monday's 7/17 Board of Trustees meeting, President Gifford pointed out that a copy of the agenda packet (the materials that the trustees receive in preparation for the meeting) was available for review by the audience throughout the the meeting. We appreciate the expanded opportunity for residents to educate themselves.

The owner of Quiznos in Deer Park Town Center appeared to ask the trustees for more signage to identify the businesses that are located in Phase 2, as these cannot be seen from the major arteries. He was asked to go back to DDR (the mall management company) so that businesses and DDR could develop a specific plan for the trustees' consideration.

Vehe Farm Foundation estimated a completion date of about two-and-a-half months from now.

Village Attorney Scott Hargadon announced his resignation.

At last week's 7/10 Plan Commission, there was a Public Hearing on the early learning center proposed on Lot 10. The applicant had requested an amendment to the Planned Development ordinance, which now allows a fitness center on that site. No action was taken.

As to the proposed hotel in the Town Center, the development team will return to Plan Commission with further details about their site, their architecture and their operation.

DVDs of both meetings are available from the Deer Park Neighbors and at the Barrington Area Library. Don't forget to display your green ribbons, and see you around the neighborhood.
